Dedication

"... a truly dedicated teacher ..."

It is not often in one's high school years that one comes in contact with a truly dedicated teacher, respected by colleague and student alike: a man devoted not only to his job but to his students as well, both as a teacher and friend; a man to whom education is more than a textbook and chalkboard experience; a man who has selflessly and tirelessly given his time to the efforts of our whole class and the needs of the student as an individual.

It is with inexpressible appreciation that we dedicate the 1969 Lion's Roar to:

MR. JOHN F. GAUMOND

"... respected by colleague ..."

"... and student alike ..."

The Editor's Speak

LION'S Roar

WEST BOYLSTON JUNIOR - SENIOR HIGH SCHOOL
WEST BOYLSTON, MASSACHUSETTS 01583

To the Class of 1969:

While graduation is the culmination of four years of high school, it is only a beginning: the knowledge and experience gained here equips us to face the future as mature people. The school has been our world. The security of its discipline has protected us from decision and has governed our relationships with each other. We go forth from this school to take our places in the world. Since the world is comprised of people, the most important thing we could have learned here is a knowledge and understanding of our fellow men. No matter what the future will bring, we will most certainly share a common task: to love each other as brothers. . . .

In the coming years we will look back on our high school years and remember the happy and difficult moments we shared: the sweet taste of victory and the pain of defeat. Crises which were beyond scope will be dismissed with a chuckle; triumphs will increase beyond proportion.

We, the Editors, hope that the 1969 Lion's Roar has captured these moments and accurately told our story.

CHARLES N. LoPRADE, Principal

MESSAGE FROM THE PRINCIPAL

It sometimes seems to me that each year of my association with the educational profession brings about greater challenges and greater demands. But in reflection, I know, similar challenges and demands are made on our students. To be a school administrator today has its complexities; to be a student has difficulties which were not quite so apparent in my generation.

The bright aspect of the constantly changing scene in today's education is the manner in which our students have met the various challenges. They are certainly keenly aware of the world in which we live and its many and varied problems. They are well-informed, articulate, and do have a sense of responsibility .... a desire to cope with and solve the anxieties gripping many of us today.

We hope we have played a role in this awareness. We believe firmly that parents, teachers, and all with whom our students have associated are deeply concerned also and are constantly alert to the desires of young people. In the final analysis it is evident that your generation now carries the hope of the country in seeking solutions to a better world; we have confidence that your ambitions and energies will realize this goal.

In Memoriam

Words do not come easily for an "In Memoriam" dedication ... for one so young, so thoughtful, so full of spirit ... it was a life span all too short ... the cruel conflict in a distant land ... for this he gave his life ... the final sacrifice made for all of us ... he was our first casualty in Viet Nam ... his passing made us all humble ... left us with real sadness ... indeed with a sense of helplessness ... it is a small deed we do to pay tribute to him in this yearbook ... but in this tribute we honor one of ours ... and dedicate this page to a young man who has left his sacrifice with all of us ... to contemplate with sadness ... may we in our way pay tribute to Michael Francis Fanning ...

Class History

After emerging from the Stone Age of junior high, we entered the Golden Age of Ancient Rome—our freshman year. Our Emperor, Tim Maki, reigned with the noble assistance of Bruce Rankins, Cathy Stiles, Judi Snow, Chris Wilson and Heather Graham.

Our Roman orgy, a freshman dance, was made a success by a band from school, the Abstracts. Roman gladiators from our empire excelled in games of Soccer, Basketball, Tennis, Golf, Baseball, Field Hockey and Softball. Cheering on our gallant men of the court quite vocally were Jim Larrabee, Don Smith, and Wayne Holmes.

Our Arts were not neglected; Brad Rice, Kris Bertelsen, Sally Shubert and Ben Hagopian added to our cultural lives while Donna Rousseau, Tim French, Dick O'Neil, and Deb Laurin soared to new musical heights. Our chorus would not have been the same without Carol Wyman, Marlene Smith, Karen Vail, Judy Shusta and Sheila Kyes. Our burning lamps of knowledge, Adrienne Butler and Mark Mooradian had been lit, to lead us through the dark years to come.

Strangers who came to our empire and stayed are, Robert Noyes and Mark Fratantonio.

We ride off into the dust in our chariot, entering the darkest years of our high school career—the Medieval Year—the Dark Age: Our sophomore year. Our great empire diminishes to a feudal castle. During the Sepavich Dynasty, Robert the Spirited ruled and was supported by his aides Kit Salter, Cathy Stiles, and Sharron Atchue. Our envoys to the Student Counsel in the capital were Sue Simon and Heather Graham.

Our sporting men who shone on the soccer field were Jeff Siam, Gary Orciani and Stephen Sherwood. The Royal Knights of the (basketball) court, did admirably in battle with other teams, with Ed Connor and Bob Brustlin leading Ed LaVigne, John Dylewcz, Dick O'Neil, Ronald Bohlin and Dick Butler to victory. Our baseball players Ed Connor, Ed LaVigne, and Ed Parzyck as well as our golfers Mike DeLiddo and Tom Forsberg also earned merit for our tiny castle.

Emerging from feudal darkness, we entered our golden age of culture, the Rennaissance: Junior year.

Our glorious monarch, Chris Salter, reigned triumphantly surrounded by his perennial but beautiful court: Cathie Stiles, Sharron Atchue, Deb Condon, Sue Simon and Heather Graham.

During the year, members of the kingdom contributed to the flourishing of culture, by assisting the Fall Frolics and Spring Concert. Physical Strength and Agility were demonstrated by those on athletic teams.

To add to the wealth of the treasure-house, members of the palace guard and many loyal subjects sold zip code books and candy at royal basketball games.

Climaxing the year was the royal ball, "Follow the Yellow Brick Road," which was the highlight of the social season. Queen Cathy Judd and her Court, Linda Johnson, Mary Jane Mulryan, Marlene White, and Judy Allen were fitting representatives of royal beauty.

At this point we are found in the new-born kingdom of our Senior year. The king, Kit Salter sat majestically looking over his faithful subjects Cathie Stiles, Vice-President, Sharron Atchue, Treasurer, Debbie Condon, Secretary, and Heather Graham and Sue Simon representing the Student Council.

Royal entertainment, highlighted during the season, by the traveling Fall Frolics Association, brought a talented show reviewed by people from nearby states.

The sporting events, common interest of people near and far, marked a successful and triumphant season for the Cross Country Team, lead by light-footed Mike Condon, Soccer, lead by Bob Brustlin and Tim French, and the Royal Women's Field Hockey Team commanded by Marie Cronin and Della Leonardi.

As the kingdom rose to great heights and flowered into a successful and great kingdom it filled all the hearts of the people with "The Impossible Dream" at the Holden House, November 27, 1968.

The Princess, Pat Howard, rose radiantly above her deserving court, Sharron Atchue, Christine Wilson, Sue Chapman, and Mary Matulis, while Prince Jimmy Cairns stood faithfully by his princess in her moment of triumph.

A new discovery marked the rise of the common people. With great acting and hard work, a subject of the Dramatic Acting Co., Marcia McKeogh led the audience with laughter and acclaim in the production of "Suds In Your Eyes." Although unfortunate circumstances prevented Mark Mooradian from performing, Debbie Condon filled the shoes of Chinatown. With the added help of Nancy Martin and Elaine Carlson, the staff, crew, and producer, the senior play was a great success.

The remaining season was dominated by the Royal Courts of Basketball, for the ladies, Duchess Jane Marsolais and Sue Chapman and the men led by Dukes Ed Connor, Ed LaVigne and Dick O'Neil, to winning seasons.

Turning to look back at the castle that we have built in our memories we find the many great times that have been shared throughout the past years. Now the roads leading from the drawbridge must be travelled individually. To all—good fortune in your quest for the impossible dream.

Class Will

We, the class of 1969, having proven ourselves to be of unorthodox minds, frail bodies, and enthusiastic spirits, do bequeath the following:

Class Prophecy

As the year 1979 rolls in, we find our guest assembled in the ballroom of the White House awaiting the arrival of the newly elected President of the United States, Steve Souza, who is throwing his Inaugural Ball. All eyes are fixed upon the lovely First Lady, Pat Bonci, as she gracefully descends the spiral staircase in her electric micro mini gown, fashioned by the world famous designer Della Leonardi. Linda Pepi, the governess, relieves the First Lady of the responsibility of her children. Photographers, Sharron Atchue and Ronnie Bohlin are present to capture the highlights of the evening. Reporters, Marcia McKeogh and Christine Wilson, elbow their way through the crowd to interview the first female Vice President, Heather Graham.

A motorcade of various types of automobiles pulls up in front of the White House. A beach buggy, chauffer driven by Nancy Powers, "DROPS" off the governor of Rhode Island, Sheila Veshi. Randy Edilberti pulls up in Steve Recupero's fruit truck while Michael DeLiddo, Ed Marrone, and Bill Heath hop out of the back of the truck armed with over ripe fruit to chuck at the Speaker of the House, John Bello. Jane Marsolais arrives in her flashy, flowered Austin, and Lynne Meanor rushes out with a shoe horn to assist John Dylewicz from the tiny car. Debby "Mustang Sally" Truelson, Jo-Ann Camarra and Mark "Mustang" Fratantonio step out of their car assisted by Jean Goral, their body guard, armed with a snub nose 38. Sue Sears, Lisa Gustafson and Elaine Carlson pedal their bicycles onto the East Lawn. In hot pursuit of the cyclists, Jane-o Backstrom and Norman Arsenault bring up the rear of the motorcade in the "Hot Chevy 6."

Inside, the band known as the Kinks, led by Steve Eicholz, Brad Rice, and Chris Salter, tunes up while Ben Hagopian turns on his psychedelic light show. The action begins with Dennis Eagan and Joan Rymaszewska capturing the attention of the people by jogging across the floor doing the "Tango". Edward LaVigne and Debi Laurin are so engrossed in learning the 1—2—3—'s a good number—cha cha cha that they nonchalantly bump into Edward Connor and Chris Surabian, who are very concerned with the events that are to take place. Off in a corner, we see Bev Senior illustrating the "Funky" to Charlie Karsok.

Threading their way through the crowd, the Butlers, Adrienne and Dick, are serving Paula Geier's version of the Shirley Temple. Carol Wyman nudging her way through the crowd of arms and legs serves hors d'oeuvres, concocted by Carolyn Morse and Maureen Marchisio.

Suddenly the electrical power goes off, and the frantic crowd is consoled by the deafening words

"Cool it" shouted by Tom Forsberg, which in turn are echoed by Pam Fernsten and Donna Bonci. Master electricians, Richard Hoaglund, Ronald Lind, and Bob Newell rush off to repair the short circuit. Janet sprints to the rescue with her bay—"Berry" candles, and in the darkness stumbles over Claire Hopgood who is demonstrating her latest skiing techniques to Bob Brustlin. Fire fighters, Jim Larrabee, Jeff Siam, Jerry Orne, and Linda Ernst armed with her trusty "Shovel", answers to the frantic cry of "FIRE!" issued by Wayne Holmes. The fire is soon extinguished, the electrical power is restored, and everyone resumes celebrating, except Kathy Messier, who is lost in the haze.

As the bash gets back into swing, Karen Vail, Sharon McCabe and Nancy Martin request that the band play "Born to be Wild" for the surviving members of the class. Because of the deafening music, no one but Jimmy Cairns, whose curfew is 11 p.m., hears the clock strike midnight. After his desperate search for a ride home, Jim Ham offers to drive him in Gary Luksha's "Guido—Mobile."

Due to the excessive crowd, the party moves outside to the swimming pool area, which is kept up to par by Gail Leonard and Sandy Brunelle. Marie Cronin, Sue Chapman and Linda Despres decide to put on a swimming and diving exhibition. Ken Rogers and Brian Lowell, while picking apples high in the tree, fall directly into the White House pool. Senior life savers Fran Triola and Mike Scales, hearing their plea for help, dive to their rescue. Dr. Sheila Kyes, assisted by nurse Wendy Hohne, bring a fresh supply of oxygen to the survivors. A loud roar, lead by Jane Ricci erupts from the boisterous crowd.

Police officers Bob Sepavich, Sue Harding and Billy Mulchay arrive after being recognized by peace-loving citizens, Tom Nickerson and Fred Folly. After being recognized as fellow members of the class of '69 they are asked by the First Lady's secretary Judy Shusta, to remain to enjoy the festivities. Coming through the swamp, the White House gardener Dwight Marsh, sees Janet, "high there" Trainor, picking tulips with Sally Shubert and Linda Savage, who are wondering how the tulips grew so incredibly high.

Everyone rushes back into the ballroom to hear Mike Condon read his list of the gaa---rooviest dressers. Number one on his list is Kris Bertelson who wore the hairiest dress. Marlene Smith takes second in her majorette skirt. Third on his list is Donna Rousseau dressed in her giraffe skin mini dress with beads. Mary Caola in her psychedelicly painted dress takes fourth place. After he finishes reading his very exasperating list in the corner of the room we see Timmy French and Mark Mooradian discussing a very difficult math problem.

The Kinks return with guest artist Gary Orciani singing "Take me back to my Hydeout," followed by Sue, singing "Simple Simon Says." As we look to the far side of the ballroom we see Mary Matulis comparing the length of her hair to that of De-De Rheaum, At the adjacent side of the room, we see Dennis Rousseau conversing about how his Chevy Impala will out do Don Smith's gallant Valiant. David Rowell and Rocky LaComfora appear to be looking for some backyard action; and plenty they find as they see Becky McKeon and Carolyn Merritt driving Dick O'Neil's garbage truck, heading straight for the kitchen wall. As we turn from the sight we see Judi doing a rain dance and thinking "Snow." Coming inside is Dale "better late than never" Jewitt, followed by her shadow Nancy Potvin and a new arrival Margaret Carey. Now we turn the spotlight on Cathy Courneyer, who is reading the edition of Fashion Magazine, looking for the best page. Then as we look in the shadow of the spotlight we can almost make out two figures, oh yes it's Robert Noyes showing ace driver Timi Maki hand shadows of a rabbit.

All of a sudden the fireworks begin with a crashing, caused by Cathy Stiles, who is driving Steve Sherwood's latest tank. Hearing this crash, the class of '69 pile out to the back door and head for their cars. But blocking the driveway we see Bob Reynolds who's Sunbeam is stuck under Roger Fallavollita's Black Bomb. Seeing this, Edward Parzyck, fiercely mad, picks up the black bomb; and with a mighty heave he throws it onto the garden, ending this most momentous evening. Now the class of '69 will wait for another 10 years and another crazy, wild class reunion, this one to be held at the home of Deb Condon or Gloria Gambaccini's.

The annual Junior Class Candy Sale made the start of the Junior year a great success leaving us a profit of over $250.00. The collection of the class dues and the money made from selling candy at the home basketball games were also a big help to aid in financing our Junior year activities.

This year's most exciting event was the prom, which through the cooperation of the whole class was a success. Carol O'Connor, Janet Harris, Debbie Cronin, Debbie Riganati, Gretchen Klar, and Sheila Hennessey participated in Sports. For the boys there were Al Hunt, Michael McManus, Don Sheppard, James Meola, Brad Campbell, Mike DePatsey, and Gary Metcalf. Others were active in many clubs. With this successful year behind us, we eagerly look forward to our Senior year with hopes of a similar success.

With our sophomore year now behind us, we are looking forward to our next two years in high school when we can begin our fundraising activities. Our class is well equipped with many athletes, some who have already shown their fine potential by earning letters in different varsity sports. Our class is determined to bring many victorious seasons for all athletic teams.

We wish the graduating class of 1969 much success in the years to come.

Our class began the year with the election of class officers. The officers have collected dues this year for the benefit of the class in the next three years.

Freshman interest and participation in sports has been strong. Thanks to the efforts of Tom Spellman, Greg Turner, and George Berry, the Cross Country team finished with a winning season. Sue Haapakoski, Chris Barr, Linda Leonard, and Jean Leonardi contributed to the victorious Junior Varsity Field Hockey team. Freshman boys have formed a strong bench for the Junior Varsity Basketball team with such players as Tom Spellman, Steve Flynn, Kevin Marrone, John McManus, and Bill Merritt.

With an active Freshman year behind us, we look forward to the next three years with anticipation.

The Webo is our high school newspaper published six times a year under the direction of this year's editor, Christine Wilson, and the paper's advisor, Mrs. Ruth Bositis.

The Webo provides comprehensive coverage of sports events, club meetings, and extra-curricular activities for the student body as a whole. The paper also carries reports on the current fashions and literary reviews of the current best sellers.

A school newspaper requires a great deal of effort from its art, photography, and business staffs, as well as from its reporters. Our paper continues to strive for improvement through the attendance of local journalism conferences and competition with other high school papers, and through the kind dedication and direction of Mrs. Bositis.

The Ski Club is one of the largest and most popular clubs in our school. Its main purpose is to gather together the students interested in skiing in order to take group trips to local ski areas.

Under the leadership of the group's officers, Ronald Bohlin (President), Robert Brustlin and Dale Edmunds (Vice Presidents), and their advisor, Mr. Maynard, the Ski Club made several trips to Mount Watatic and planned several other trips. Thanks go to Mr. Maynard who has given of his time in spite of a busy schedule to help us follow our chosen path.

The Latin Club entered its second year under the leadership of: M. Cronin (President), S. Chapman (Vice President), G. Leonard (Treasurer), and D. Cronin (Secretary).

The Latin Club meets regularly under the direction of Dr. Cecchini, without whom we could not exist.

The members of the Latin Club work together to become more familiar with the classical language. The highlight of this year was the attendance at a Latin Seminar at Holy Cross College.

Our leader in action.

The Chorus, the Band, and the Dance Band made up the musical groups at the High School this year. They are included together because all are under the incomparable direction of Mr. Maynard.

The Chorus, which meets twice weekly, is made up of students who wish to express themselves vocally. The group took part in the Spring Concert under the guidance of its officers: Jim Larrabee (President) and Pam Fernsten (Manager).

The Dance Band is restricted by audition (Because of overwhelming response) to the more advanced musicians. The group meets once a week to practice for its part in the Project Fair. The Dance Band also performed in the Fall Frolics and the annual Spring Concert. Officers are B. Campbell and T. Maki.

The Band, under the leadership of R. O'Neil and T. Maki, had another very busy schedule this year. The Band took part in Band Day at the University of New Hampshire, in the Spring Concert, the National Honor Society Installation, the Memorial Day Parade, and the Little League Parade.

All three groups again wish to give their thanks to Mr. Maynard.

Sounds like a wide range? It is, and those are examples of just two of the many interesting exhibits presented at the 1968 West Boylston Projects Fair. Each year the students contend with larger and more extensive projects for the various prizes awarded. The usual crowds of parents and other visitors flooded the school on the night of the public exhibition.

The 1968 Annual Spring concert was once again presented to the public and proved to be another enjoyable and commendable performance. The Music Department, under the direction of Mr. Herbert G. Maynard, presented the Senior High Band, Chorus, Dance Band, Junior High Band, and selected soloists from all organizations.

Highlights of the program included a performance by John Mercurio, Donnie DiPasquale, and Pam and Donna. Congratulations are in order for all those involved.

Gym Show 1968

The 1968 gym show was put on under new supervision this year. Mr. Lou Renzi did a fine job coaching the boys team which consisted of 15 boys. Miss Nancy Dye selected a graceful team of 10. Both coaches and teams worked together for the season to put together one of the finest co-ed gym shows around.

After entering in colorful opening ceremony the girls and boys went through a series of team drills. Judi Snow put on a fine routine in floor exercise. Co-captains Sandy Naylor and Della Leonardi performed graceful and skillfully executed routines on the uneven bars. Jim Larrabee demonstrated his strength on the ropes and on the peg board.

The show ended with a series of tableaux, with sports as the theme. Thanks to the efforts of the coaches, co-captains, the teams, and the music provided by Dom Lopardo the show was a great success.

The Class of 1969 chose as its Junior Prom theme "Follow the Yellow Brick Road." Under the direction of Mr. Griffin and Cathy Stiles, the gym was transformed into the beautiful world over the rainbow—complete with the castle from Emerald City.

To climax a wonderful evening, Cathy Judd, escorted by Robert Jacobson, was chosen as Queen.

"Come as You Are Day"

"Come As You Are Day," commonly called "Grub Day," was held on February 14, 1969 as a Student Council project. Needless to say, the day was a great success; everyone loved coming to school wearing something different. Outfits ranged from the current styles to characters from NBC's "Laugh-In." A round of applause is certainly in order for the Student Council for their "fun" day.

Under the direction of Mrs. Marcoux, the Class of 1969 presented the "Impossible Dream" on November 27, 1968. For the first time, the Senior Ball was held outside of the school at the Holden House. Music for the affair was provided by Arty Ashod's Orchestra.

The highlight of the evening was when Mr. LaPrade crowned Patricia Howard, who was escorted by James Cairns, as Queen of the Ball.

Senior Play

"Suds in Your Eye," this year's senior play, was one of the best plays that has ever been seen in our school. The play concerned the ideas of an Irish woman and the problems she encountered in fulfilling them. The plot unravelled with the finding of two friends and their matchmaking efforts for an unsuspecting sailor. Not enough praise can be given to the actors for the wonderful job they did.

Rehearsing the play itself took about one and a half months, while providing the scenery, props, and costumes took about three weeks. Through the cooperation of the cast and production staff, an excellent job of preparation was done both off-stage and on.

We are all very grateful to all who made this year's play the success that it was, and we particularly wish to thank Mr. Gaumond for his guidance and patience.

The J.V. Team had a very fine season this year, winning 14 and losing only 4. For the second year in a row they captured the league title with 12 wins and 2 losses. The first game of the season was a one-point win over Tahanto, followed by successive losses to Northbridge, Leominster, and Wachusett. The J.V.'s then reeled off a 12 game winning streak before losing to the Leicester J.V.'s in the last league game of the season. They closed the season by beating Bartlett. It was a good season, and some fine talent was developed for the next year's Varsity.

The 1968 Baseball Team did not have a great season. This was due partly to the loss of several previous players to the track team and still others to the injured list. Coach Ekblom noted that he expected more out of some of his players. However, he added brightly that many fine ballplayers will be returning next year, with experience to benefit the 1969 season.

Arnold Palmer???

Mr. Foley (coach) and team members: L. Danielian, R. McCabe, and P. Ciociolo.

Coach Foley and the 1968 Golf Team had an outstanding record of 10 wins, 1 loss, and 1 tie. In only its third year the team has proven its superior talent. The departure of the nucleus of seniors leaves Mr. Foley with many vacancies for the 1969 season.

Track

Standing: Mr. O'Connor (coach), S. Carville, D. Mulryan, M. DePatsy, J. Moorefield, D. Whitney, T. Renzoni, P. Rotti, C. Bartlett. Kneeling: R. Knox, R. Wilmont, R. Bohlin, R. Shepard, D. McCool, D. O'Neil, D. Shepard, S. Leslie.

Les flies high.

The effort of all the team members enabled the last year of Mr. O'Connor's coaching to be a success. Many school records were broken by such veterans as: John Dylewicz, Les Fisher, and Rich Shepard.

Advisor's Page . . .

Before you is placed the 1969 Lion's Roar, the result of many hours of devoted work by the Senior Class. Our goal this year was to equal the fine work of the past years; we feel, however, that we have surpassed all expectations by producing for your enjoyment the finest book ever. We are proud of this book for two reasons:

First, it supplies complete coverage to all school activities, organizations, and events of interest during the past year.

Second, it gives extensive coverage to the Senior Class and complete coverage of the underclasses.

No one person is alone responsible for the creation of a year book. As always, there are several individuals who have "carried the load." First, and most important, due to the responsibility of the position, are our Editors, Heather Graham and Dennis Eagan. Of no lesser importance is the position that carries the burden of financing the yearbook. We were very lucky to have Pat Bonci and Bob Brustlin, as our Business Managers. They received a big boost from various members of the class, as our dealine approached.

Of course, we cannot forget Mercer Studio for the fine photographic work they did. Our own Camera Club also chipped in with many excellent prints.

Thanks and a tip of the hat go, as usual, to Taylor Publishing Company and their outstanding representative in this area, Mr. Bill Rowan.

Behind these people is the backbone of the staff, as well as all those who sold a record number of Boosters without whom there would be no yearbook.

To all those involved in making the 1969 Lion's Roar the success that it is, we say thank you for a job well done. The entire staff can take pride in knowing that they have accomplished what seemed an impossible task—the production of one of the finest yearbooks to come from WBHS.

Spring Concert 1969

The man of the hour!

So soft, so smooth, so enjoyable

Once again the Music Department presented its annual Spring Concert, the product of many hours of long, often tedious rehearsing and much patience. The Band, Dance Band, Chorus, and all groups and individuals who took part presented a very enjoyable evening for the fine crowd which attended. And as always much applause goes to Mr. Maynard for another job well done.

Pam, at a loss for words!

National Honor Society Installation

This year as in the past the installation of new members into the National Honor Society was the most outstanding scholastic event of the year. A solemn and stirring march followed by speeches on the qualities of Character, Scholarship. Leadership, and Service provides the proper setting for the induction on new members into the Society.

Inductees take the NHS pledge.

"I congratulate you."

Character—Service—Scholarship—Leadership

Gym Show 1969

Under the leadership of Coach Renzi, the gym team provided an enjoyable evening of gymnastic demonstrations for the fine crowd in attendance. Congratulations to all who helped make the Gym Show the success it was.

Junior Prom

A trip to the enchanting Land of Oz provided all who attended this year's prom with a wonderful and enjoyable evening. The Wizard of Oz demonstrated his eye for beauty in the selection of the Queen and her lovely court. A truly fine selection on his part.

Congratulations to Queen Nancy, her court and all those who provided so many with such an enjoyable evening.

Softball

Under the leadership of Mrs. Schofield the girls had a fine season. Though the team is losing some of the girls the team is confident of a fine season again next year.

Congratulations to Mrs. Schofield and all the members of the girls Softball Team.
